

Can you find value in a blue ocean?

In last week's blog I discussed what it means to create value, and mentioned that simply asking your customers what they want is a viable way to determine value opportunities. When your customers don't know what they want, an alternative is to use the Blue Ocean Strategy (BOS).